

Kindernook Preschool

Established in 1953, Kindernook Preschool was one of the first preschools in Omaha.

Over the years, Kindernook has become a tradition for many families in the Omaha area. Our innovative curriculum and creative programming are the basis of our mission to help children develop a love of learning through play-based, interactive curriculums.

Kindernook teachers and staff work year round to achieve this mission:

To be a leader in early childhood education while teaching students to explore, experiment and play.

Since 1953 we have succeeded in providing exceptional early childhood education and in 2001 we were accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children. Kindernook was the first preschool in Omaha to be accredited under the new NAEYC education standards when we sought re-accreditation in 2007 and 2012.

Kindernook Preschool is a division of Countryside Community Church. Kindernook does not provide religious training, nor do we focus on religious education. Kindernook focuses on themes and issues that are common to all individuals. By teaching kindness and compassion for one another, we believe we are teaching invaluable lessons.
